Guatemala is a fascinating country with rich indigenous culture and stunning natural habitats. The most striking features of its landscape are the 37 volcanos, several of them still being active. These volcanos are not only attractive for travelers to discover but also make up the distinct characters to be found in Guatemalan coffees. Antigua is one of the oldest coffee-growing regions in Guatemala and is famous for producing some of the best coffees in the world.

Founded more than 150 years ago, the family-owned Finca Medina is located in the outskirts of Antigua. Finca Medina is dedicated to advanced technology in coffee production and milling processing like their drip irrigation system while also maintaining traditional work techniques. Being also committed to sustainability, the Finca especially attaches importance to ensuring the wellbeing of their employees, maintaining awareness and care of the production environment as well as maintaining a high production of high quality coffee.This is being ensured through a professional laboratory where the necessary quality controls are carried out for every single lot of this genuine Antigua coffee. The preservation of the ecosystem and the proper maintenance of the shade trees are of utmost importance to the coffee plantation. Therefore, 10 ha of land are being preserved as unspoiled nature so that the biodiversity of flora and fauna can prosper and thrive unhindered.

This coffee from Finca Medina underwent natural processing. After only ripe cherry is selectively harvested and then sorted, beans are sent diretly to dry with their skin on. The result is a citric and sweet cup with notes of dark cherry, prunes, and vanilla.
